Key Responsibilities

- Manage international sea freight and road transport orders, including imports, exports and cross-trade, from enquiry to completion.
- Develop transport solutions, assess feasibility, prepare quotations, negotiate freight rates and follow up on offers.
- Coordinate customers, carriers and international partners to deliver transport orders accurately and on schedule.
- Arrange customs clearance, transport insurance and dangerous goods shipments, ensuring all documents, certificates, permits and licences are in place.
- Resolve operational issues, handle claims and complaints, and keep customers informed.
- Control job profitability, manage invoicing and supplier invoices, monitor receivables and close job files.
- Maintain complete, accurate shipment records and high data quality in CargoWise One.
- Develop customer relationships through meetings and visits, and contribute market insights to commercial planning.
- Apply relevant legal requirements and company standards, with a strong focus on quality, health, safety and environmental responsibility.

Candidate Profile

- Completed vocational training in freight forwarding or shipping, a degree in logistics or a related field, or a comparable qualification.
- Several years of logistics experience, ideally in project logistics or heavy transport.
- A sound understanding of global supply chains, transport planning, customs procedures and transport regulations.
- Strong communication and negotiation skills, with the ability to work confidently with customers and partners across cultures.
- Fluent German and English; additional languages are an advantage.
- An independent, reliable and customer-focused approach, combined with a strong team spirit.
- Willingness to travel internationally for business.

What's in It for You?

- A varied role in international project logistics, combining operational delivery with commercial responsibility.
- Ownership of transport orders from initial enquiry to final close-out.
- Collaboration with customers, colleagues and logistics partners around the world.
- The opportunity to contribute your expertise to complex transport challenges.
